

Who really pays for healthcare?

employees

employers

For every dollar employees spend on healthcare, on average, employers spend four. But costs for medical care are rising faster than many companies can afford—causing premiums, co-payments and deductibles to increase. There are simple things we all can do to help keep healthcare affordable, like discussing treatment options with your doctor and asking if generic drugs are available when you need prescription medicine.

Source: The Kaiser Family Foundation and Health Research & Educational Trust, Employer Health Benefits 2011 Annual Survey

NEBRASKA

Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Nebraska is an Independent Licensee of the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Association.

For more health and wellness information, visit www.BlueHealthAdvantageNE.com

36-107-08 (11-11-11)